

Understanding Food Donation in Singapore

Food safety is a joint responsibility. Food donors must ensure that the food donated for human consumption is safe and suitable to eat.

SFA has developed a set of Guidelines for Food Donation to assist food donors, and for their staff and volunteers, in understanding and complying with the standard and behaviour expected of them by the law on food safety as regards the food they donate, and how to make use of the protection provided by the Good Samaritan Food Donation Act 2024.

Scan the QR codes below to read more about food donation and food-related laws in Singapore.

Guidelines for Food
Donation

<https://go.gov.sg/food-donation>

Good Samaritan Food
Donation Act

<https://go.gov.sg/gsfda>

Food Safety and Security Act

<https://go.gov.sg/fssa>